

ARK Survival Evolved Free Ancient Amber and Primal Pass Generator

ARK Survival Evolved has received a lot of attention from the gaming community. It's not the first survival game with an emphasis on scavenger hunts and making out in the wild, but it's a lot more fun to play - and it's free. For those unfamiliar with ARK Survival Evolved (also known as ARK) it's a "survival" simulator where players are rewarded for going out into the wilderness and collecting items and crafting supplies while avoiding harm. It's been receiving a lot of attention from members of the gaming community, with many proclaiming it's one of the best games on Facebook right now.

I've been playing ARK for a while now, and there's no doubt that its basic premise is really what attracted me. You're stuck in a large abandoned world; and you're not exactly in the clear. There's a whole planet of hungry animals around which hunt you, because they need food. The island you're on is called The Ark, and inside you find this amazing fossilized amber - the source of all the creatures you need to feed and repair yourself. You also get a large number of tools to help you on your journey, but unfortunately these tools are incredibly rare and can only be found in certain places. What you need to do is to get them before the creatures do.

There are a few ways to level up in ARK Survival Evolved: you can go out there and kill anything you can find, scavenge from logs and rocks, or just bum up wherever you can find a spot. Some people prefer to camp out in the wilds, taking advantage of the creature comforts offered by the game (including beds if you're camping somewhere with other players). Other people enjoy the slower, more strategic approach; knowing that they'll always have a place to get a meal and a spot to sleep should things go horribly wrong. That's where ARK Survival Evolved's forums come in; with thousands upon thousands of players looking for tips and help, you can rest assured that you won't be the only one making use of these resources.

Inside the game, you'll need to know exactly what kind of equipment you're going to need in order to survive. For starters, you need food and water. You'll also need armour in case you run into hostile creatures or other types of hazard. These are essential, and you should get as many as you can, but don't overload your bag with too much (it'll look like you're trying to fill up your backpack). This will cause a problem when you're fighting, because your character won't be able to fully buffer (buff) itself. Aim to keep the number of buffs you have at a maximum of two; one for your food/water, and one for your armor.

To get started, you should start with a pre-made character. This way you know how much experience you'll earn in the early part of the game. When you get more skills and money, you can move onto a custom character, but you won't get that experience until later. As long as you get off the beaten path, you won't be stuck behind others who didn't take the time to get started.
